Haig Picked As Head of Nixon Staff

By Austin Scott

Washington Post Staff Writer

KEN BISCAYNE Fla.

May 4 President Nixon today named Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., a man he has frequently relied on in difficult situations, as an interim replacement for resigned White House chief of staff H.R. (Bob) Haldeman.

The selection of Haig, one of the fastest rising generals in the Army and a clear favorite of the White House, was Mr. Nixon's first public move to repair the gaping holes torn in his staff by the Watergate scandal.

There were hints that the President may go much further than just replacing bodies, restructuring the staff as well, making changes in the flow of information.

In his own mind, he has all options open, said press secretary Ronald Ziegler. Future changes, Ziegler said, will be designed to allow the business of the White House to proceed in a more effective way than perhaps it did in the past.

Haig headed the White House advance team that went to China in January 1972 to prepare for the President's meeting with Chinese leaders and made 11 trips to Hanoi during the final negotiations of the Vietnam peace agreement.

At 48, a four-star general for only eight months, Haig becomes the gatekeeper to much of the flow of information and individuals to the President.

Gen. Haig will have the responsibility of coordinating the flow of information to the President along with scheduling, Ziegler said. "It's a job about which Haldeman once said, 'I never President' and then S.O.B. and I'm Nixon's."

It is also a job in which Haig is familiar. As deputy assistant to the President for national security affairs, Haig organized foreign affairs adviser Henry Kissinger's staff to keep the work of the National Security Council flowing smoothly and prepared for the President a daily 10- or 12-page summary of security conditions throughout the world.

President Nixon was quoted as saying in September, "When you see the lights burning late in Kissinger's office, it's usually Haig," and describing him as "one of the outstanding military men I've met."

A great portion of the work will be administrative, but he will also be involved in policy formulation," Ziegler said. "The President has great confidence in General Haig, not only in his abilities as an individual, but also in his administrative abilities."

Haig conferred with the President for 45 minutes Tuesday morning, Ziegler said, and is already at work in Haldeman's corner office in the West Wing of the White House.

Haldeman resigned April 30 but is still on the payroll, Ziegler said, with no firm date for the termination of his $42,500 annual salary.

"It is my understanding that he intends to be out of his office this weekend," Ziegler said. Asked about a specific date for removing Haldeman from the payroll, Ziegler said, "I anticipate it will be relatively soon."

Haig will continue on the military payroll at his present rank, Ziegler said, and will be one of the candidates considered to fill the White House job permanently. Pentagon sources said Haig considers his appointment temporary and intends to return to his position as Army vice chief of staff.

Haig stopped in briefly at the Pentagon yesterday to see his boss, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Creighton W. Abrams.

As he was hurrying out of the building, Haig told a few newsmen that he was surprised by his new assignment but that it was just "fine" with him. He added that he was starting on it right now. I've got a lot of work to do and I'm going to do it."

Haig said "yes" his new assignment was a temporary one, and "no," he would not be leaving the Army, as his black limousine pulled away from the Pentagon and headed across the river to the White House.

The President's action has parallels from his days as Vice President when presidential assistant Sherman Adams was forced to resign in 1958 and President Eisenhower brought in Gen. Wilton Persons to become No. 2 man at the White House.

When Mr. Nixon nominated Haig to become a four-star general last Sept. 27, he stepped over 240 senior Army generals to pick him and skipped him right over the three-star rank.

Haig joined Kissinger's staff as senior military adviser in January 1969. By November, 1969, he had his first star, and within 18 months he was deputy assistant to Kissinger, having impressed both his boss and the President with his ability to grasp the large and unwieldy policy questions handed by the National Security Council and to put in long hours of work that kept much of the organizational burden off Kissinger.

There was, however, some private sense of frustration expressed by a few top Pentagon officers yesterday. Though nominated by the President to become vice chief of staff last September, Haig's special duties as deputy to Kissinger kept him from moving to the Pentagon until January, and now he's gone again.

Coming on the heels of Defense Secretary Robert L. Richardson's pending transfer to the Justice Department, Haig's departure marked the second time in a week that the White House reached into the Pentagon's hierarchy to help solve the Nixon administration's personnel problems.

Asked what political party Haig belongs to, Ziegler said he thought the general was a Republican, but could not say for sure because "you won't believe this, but the general and I have never discussed politics."

In the matter of a successor for Richardson, Ziegler confirmed that multimillionaire industrialist David Packard is the leading candidate for Secretary of Defense. Packard held the job of deputy defense secretary for 35 months during Mr. Nixon's first term.

In Washington, it was understood that Packard is in fact prepared to accept the nomination if arrangements can be made to allow him to avoid dumping his huge holdings ($400 million plus) in Hewlett-Packard Corp., the Palo Alto, Calif., electronics firm that he co-founded. It is believed that the Senate Armed Services Committee will approve a trust fund arrangement similar to that approved when Packard became deputy secretary in 1969.

Selling such a huge block of stock, which is normally required of any Secretary of Defense, could have a serious effect on the company, and Packard apparently is intent on avoiding this.

In the earlier instance, Packard gave the $27 million in profits earned by his stocks to charity.

General Alexander Haig— He's Nixon's New Number One

by Lloyd Shearer Alexander Haig

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Of all the moves Richard Nixon has made to restore confidence in his Watergate-tarnished Administration, none is more vital than his appointment of a new chief of staff.

To date the President has employed two such men to help him run the White House and set the tone, character, and spirit of his executive branch: Harry Robbins Haldeman (1969-73) and retired Gen. Alexander M. Haig, the incumbent.

Chief of staff Haldeman, who resigned in the midst of the Watergate scandal this past spring, was variously known during his White House tenure as "The Prussian," "Hans," and "The Brush."

Born, reared, and educated in Los Angeles, son of a wealthy and conservative family, Haldeman is a near-fanatical Nixonian who over the years developed a passionate and obsessive hatred of the press.

Thousands of words have been written of his background, his employment as manager of the Los Angeles branch of the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency, his campus activities at UCLA, his friendship with John Ehrlichman, and his incubation in front of the Ervin committee of a disease now referred to as "Haldeman's Amnesia."

'Do everything right'

The self-righteous philosophy which guided him and his appointees, many of whom still occupy top positions in the federal services, is best expressed in Haldeman's own Watergate testimony: "We did throughout the White House operate on what is known in some views as a zero defect system. We attempted to do everything right."

That attempt ended in disaster and scandal, and the subsequent replacement of Haldeman by Haig.

At age 48, Alexander Meigs Haig Jr. has an entirely different personality from his predecessor. He is friendly, trusting, sweetly reasonable, according to his sister, Regina Meredith, a lawyer in Pennington, N.J., and a man who generates neither hatred nor fear.

As Henry Kissinger's deputy for more than four years, it was his job to supervise, check, coddle, stimulate, and control a variety of academic and State Department types, sensitive, proud and temperamental, and he performed tactfully in an atmosphere that can frequently create abrasiveness and impatience.

One of Kissinger's staff in national security affairs who was wiretapped by the FBI describes Haig as a "thoroughly decent human being."

In my whole period of servitude under Henry and Al," he confides, "I never knew Haig to behave like a general. He was always courteous and often considerate. He operates on the proven belief that one catches more flies with honey than vinegar. Henry, on the other hand, frequently behaved like a slave master. If some young aide brought him a salami sandwich instead of hot pastrami, a favorite of his, Henry would bellow, 'Pastrami, you idiot—not salami.' I never heard Al Haig call anyone an idiot. He's too even-tempered for that."

It's in his approach

General Haig's attractive wife of 23 years, the former Patricia Antoinette Fox, whose father was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of staff in Japan, confirms that statement. "He has a good sense of balance," she says of her husband, "and a good sense of humor, a sort of funny streak. When I tell people that, they always ask for an example, and I never can come up with one. It isn't that he himself is funny. It's that he laughs easily and takes a light approach, not a crisis approach to problems."

"What I've always considered a funny quirk about him is his continuous attachment to wood. He's simply crazy about anything made of wood. When we're celebrating an anniversary or he's back from an overseas trip, he usually surprises me with something wooden."

"I never realized how many salad bowls and snack servers he'd given me until we made this last move to a house a few months ago that we're renting on Foxhall Road. I came across a crate marked 'wood.' I couldn't imagine at first what it was. Then I opened the box and saw dozens of salad bowls. I simply laughed and crated it up again."

I could understand

General Haig, who was the Army's Vice Chief of Staff when President Nixon phoned him at Ft. Benning on May 4th to take over Bob Haldeman's job, is a mature man who does not equate dissent or criticism with treachery. He rejects the paranoid idea which holds that if you're not for us, you're against us, and if you're against us, you're the enemy. He could well understand, for example, why several members of Congress thought a military man should not also hold down the job as the President's chief of staff.

"I could understand the objections," he says, "but on the other hand, if you look at Title 10 of the U.S. Code, there's a provision for a chief of staff for the President. The difficulty of that position is that it requires Senate confirmation, and in the climate of the times, I felt it would have subjected both the Army and the President to a lot of controversy, so I felt the cleanest thing I could do was to make a choice: stay with the Army where my heart is or go with the President where my head told me to go, so I retired from the Army after 27 years. But even that generated a certain amount of criticism."

Some people object to the fact that I now draw half of my Army retirement pay of $12,000 a year, plus my salary of $42,500 as the President's chief of staff. The truth is that in many respects, I'm getting less than what I got as a four-star Army general, and that the move to the White House has probably cost my estate $100,000.

"But as I say, I understand the criticism. I don't welcome it, but I understand it. When you're up front you become a prime target. The thing, however, is not to become uptight or neurotic or react with anger. A man needs all his strength in this job."

Since taking over as the President's chief aide, Haig finds himself working from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. six or seven days a week, leaving precious little time to spend with his wife and three children.

"Fortunately," he says, "they, too, are understanding of the changes in my life style."

The Haigs have three children, Alex, 21, a senior at Georgetown, Brian, 20, a sophomore at West Point, and Barbara, 17, who attends a parochial high school in Washington. They all take a deep interest in Haig's career. "but when he comes home at night," says Mrs. Haig, "he's almost too pooped to talk. Lots of times, however, young Alex and Barbara sit up until after midnight just to talk to their father. And then he really communicates. Of course, Brian, who's up at West Point, misses out on these talks, but he telephones home every weekend for an updating. Actually, we try to share as many experiences with the children as we can. They've flown out to San Clemente with us, and they attend the White House ceremonies when they can. But Al's hours are very, very long. He puts in a hard day."

A day's work

General Haig's typical day begins when the White House limousine picks him up a little after 7 and delivers him in time to prepare for the senior staff meeting, which takes place at 8:30 a.m. It includes all the senior White House staff: Mel Laird, Anne Armstrong, George Shultz, Henry Kissinger, Ron Ziegler, William Timmons, Bryce Harlow, Peter Flanigan.

That's followed by his morning meeting with the President, usually between 9 and 10, sometimes longer.

"For me," he reports, "that's usually followed by a series of follow-up actions that come out of the President's meeting. There's interdepartmental work with the Cabinet, work with the White House staff. Then I usually have another meeting with the President later in the day. That meeting sometimes occurs shortly after lunch or sometimes quite late in the day, 5 or 6 p.m. I generally have a pattern of two meetings a day with the President, one at the beginning and one at the end, and frequently there will be telephone calls in between and beyond that point. Thus far my pattern has been a very intense one because we've had to reorganize our staff and re-establish new patterns with new personalities.

"My deputy is John Bennett, a retired general whom I've known for a number of years. He's very well qualified, a broad-based guy. I knew him when I worked for Bob McNamara and Joe Califano over at the Pentagon. John's had considerable experience in political and military affairs and policy level work in defense. He taught English at West Point. We get along very well. He knows my views but he's not a yes man.

"I've also brought over Muriel Hartley who's been with me ever since I'd been in the Pentagon. She's a superb secretary.

Looking at the job

"The way I look at my job," Haig explains, "is to be sure the President sees all the people that are most important for him to see in the context of the important issues that he's addressing.

"When I arrived at the White House this past May on a temporary basis, I went down to Key Biscayne with the President, and I laid out to him the conceptual approach that I hoped would characterize the next three years of this Administration. I must say, my own ideas were very close to his.

"Those ideas are: One, that we want a greater degree of openness in the White House, in the whole spectrum of White House activity. We want a greater rapport with Congress. We recognize that you have to have a strong bipartisan sense of responsibility for conducting the government's business, and if you depart from that, you're in trouble.

"Two, we recognize a very strong degree of alienation from the press. We want to improve that. We intend to improve that, although we're not naive about the magnitude of the task. We recognize that it's not a task that's going to be solved in a week or two of smiles and openness and accessibility. It's going to take a long period of give and take. Quite frankly, I think we've made that beginning.

The facilitators

"Three, in the context of openness, and this is more organizational, we want to lower the profile of the White House staff, to change their own conception of the role they should play, to change it from one of imprimatur of national policy to facilitators. I hope that every senior staff officer will look upon himself as a facilitator of communication between the agency chiefs and the President, and that the Cabinet officer himself will look upon a White House staffer as a friend in court who can make his job easier.

"I hope that the White House staffers will remain low in profile and hyperactive in the context of improving communication with the President and the constitutional implementers of national policy, the Cabinet and the agency chiefs.

"Another thing the President and I discussed at Key Biscayne very seriously was the character of the personnel appointments within the Administration. And in that area we've sought to establish criteria. First is the quality of the appointment. There have been times in past history and in any administration that these things get out of whack. Political loyalty or political reasons or minority appointments, any host of things comes first. And that's wrong.

Quality, not partisanship

"With us we now want quality, and I think in the appointments that have been made of late, Clarence Kelley in the FBI, Bill Colby in the CIA, Ray Carrett in the SEC, Mel Laird, Bryce Harlow, and of course, Henry [Kissinger] as Secretary of State, one of the most genuinely brilliant minds I've ever encountered—I believe we've made quality and not political partisanship the basic criterion of personnel selection.

"We've opened," Haig asserts, "the top-level doors to the professionals in government, the professional bureaucrats, the civil servants, so that men know when they come into government as young people that all doors are open to them based on performance. That sort of policy not only improves the overall excellence of the civil servant, but I believe it insures our historic perspective at top levels of policy making.

Haig will not say why such policies as he describes were not implemented in the first Nixon Administration—he is far too adroit and diplomatic to be drawn into any discussion of Bob Haldeman's practices—but he is determined that during his tenure as the President's chief of staff, the President will not remain in isolation, splendid or otherwise.

Since age 13

For some unfathomable reason, Alexander Haig, since the age of 13, has obsessively wanted to be a professional soldier and a West Point graduate.

"Frankly," says his mother, Regina Haig, a sprightly 82-year-old ex-school-teacher who still walks five miles a day in Pennington, N.J., "there was nothing soldierly about Alec as a boy.

"When we lived in Cynwyd (a suburb of Philadelphia) where he grew up, he always wanted to paint the neighbors' garages or play his set of drums and the guitar. Our house was usually filled with his friends, Jim White, Al Conway, and other names I can't remember. Alec was always so open and friendly. So good with people.

"His father, after whom he's named, was a lawyer, but he died of cancer when Alec was 10. I thought for a while that Alec might follow in his father's footsteps. But he didn't. His sister, however, did. She's named after me. Her name is also Regina, and she attended the University of Pennsylvania just as her father did and got her law degree there. She practices in Trenton. I also have another son, Frank. He's 44, four years younger than Alec. He's a Jesuit priest, and he now teaches physics at the University of Loyola in Baltimore.

"I never tried to interfere with the careers of any of my three children. I remember that Alec turned down several appointments to the Naval Academy at Annapolis after he was graduated from Lower Merion High School. At the time I wondered why. But he was stubborn and insistent upon going to West Point. After a year at Notre Dame and I don't know how many prayers on my part, his appointment to the Military Academy came through. He was overjoyed."

The accelerated course

In 1944, Cadet Haig was given the choice of pursuing the regular or accelerated wartime course through the Military Academy. He chose the three-year stint and was graduated in 1947, ranked 214 in a class of 310.

Shipped to Japan, he played quarterback on the 1st Cavalry Division football team, where he was observed by Patricia Fox, daughter of Gen. Pat Fox.

"I noticed him," she admits, "long before he noticed me. Back then, those of us girls whose families were already based on Japan were always eager to look over the new crop of freshly arrived second lieutenants. The first time I saw Al he was playing football. What impressed me was the way he moved. He was so lively, so vigorous. But we actually didn't meet until a few weeks later. Al was an aide to Gen. Edward Almond, and he came with another aide to the piano recital that my music teacher, Lydia Shapiro, was giving. I was playing, and he stayed to the end to compliment me, and that's how we met and started dating. It was in the fall of 1949.

"Our courtship was gay and prosaic. There were so many other young people in Tokyo during the occupation. We had a lovely time, and everything went smoothly with us except that my mother was so overwhelmingly approving of Al that I was ready to rebel, but I didn't."

Just married, but

The couple were married on May 24, 1950, honeymooned for two weeks at the Kawana Hotel, two hours out of Tokyo. On June 25, the North Koreans invaded South Korea. Haig was shipped to Korea, where he fought and subsequently came down with hepatitis.

During the next 20-odd years, Captain Haig served at West Point as company tactical officer, at Annapolis as company tactical officer. He pulled duty in Germany near Hanau and Heidelberg. He served stretches at both the Army and Naval war colleges. He commanded troops in Vietnam. He became deputy commandant at the Point where, his wife believes, "we were the happiest. It was so lovely for us and the children."

In 1968, when Henry Kissinger was putting together a staff for the National Security Council, Haig was recommended by Gen. Andrew Goodpaster as Kissinger's assistant. Kissinger now says jokingly, "I interviewed Al, and since the job duties of the position were not well-defined, I knew at once he was my man."

In truth, the Kissinger-Haig rapport grew slowly through the years. Haig listened and learned, studied Kissinger's ways. A less volatile man than his boss, he established a more humane relationship with the staff.

Growing rapport, rapid rise

Kissinger, in turn, recognized Haig as a brilliant, indefatigable workhorse whose basic views were compatible with his. Soon Haig was flying over to Vietnam every few months to honestly assess the war situation for both Kissinger and the President. Promotions followed, and Haig found himself jumped over dozens of other generals to become the Army's Vice Chief of Staff.

Then came Watergate, and on May 4, the phone call from President Nixon asking him to take over for Bob Halde-

"What could I say?" asks Haig. "What can any American say when the Commander in Chief makes such a request? I said, 'Yes, Mr. President' and here I am."

Family portrait: Mrs. Haig in chair; daughter Barbara, 17; General Haig behind her; Brian, 20, sophomore at West Point, and Alex, 24, Georgetown senior.

Haig (right) and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in a relaxed mood at San Clemente. The men have a basic rapport and compatibility of views developed over the four years that Haig served as Kissinger's National Security deputy.

Study in contrasts: Nixon with General Haig and below, with Bob Haldeman—his new and old chiefs of staff. Haig, friendly and reasonable, expects to staff the White House with people who will help dispel the antagonism revealed by Watergate.

ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG

Haig

Though he has never commanded a full army in battle, Alexander Meigs Haig, 55, is probably the most widely known American general of the past decade. Only a dozen or so years ago, he was a bright but unknown colonel working in the Pentagon. Four years later, he was a four-star general, having spent most of the interim as assistant to then White House national security adviser Henry Kissinger. When the Nixon White House began to crumble, Haig, by then the Army vice chief of staff, came back as Nixon's chief of staff into a role of global interest.

As NATO commander under President Ford, Haig earned great respect among European leaders. He became critical of President Carter, retired from the Army, thought briefly about a run for the presidency and decided instead to become chief operating officer of United Technologies Corp.

He considers him a person of total integrity and absolute loyalty to the United States of America. b6

Dr. Fritz G.A. Kraemer, retired Colonel and civilian advisor at the Pentagon advised that he has known Mr. Haig since 1960, where he became a member of the General Staff. He described him as a self-confident man with no hidden inferiority complex who is truly and fully dedicated to the service of the Nation. He stated that Haig sometimes may seem arrogant but that it is necessary to achieve the objective for him. He believes him to be one of the few people that know what needs to be done. He called Haig a splendid administrator who knows how to use the resources available to him. Since they first met he has never known Haig to do anything to promote his own personal interests. He considers Haig's associates to be of highest reliability and considers him to be over qualified. He recommended him specifically for a position as Secretary of State for the United States of America. He concluded by stating that Haig is an independent man of great depths that the country desperately needs at present.

His association with Mr. Haig was professional only, but he described Haig as friendly, clear in his goals, willing to accept advice and intelligent. He knew of nothing that would reflect unfavorably upon Haig's character, associates, reputation or loyalty. He had no reason not to recommend him for a position of confidence and trust with the government.

Miscellaneous

A review of the files of the FBI reveals the following additional information concerning General Haig:

The files indicate the existence of several civil suits relating to the Wounded Knee, South Dakota, incident, naming General Haig as a codefendant with other Government officials, including a top FBI executive. These suits pertain to the use of military hardware in controlling the takeover of the village of Wounded Knee on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation. The plaintiffs allege a violation of the Posse Comitatus Act.

The files further indicate the existence of several civil suits against former Attorney General John Mitchell and six other Federal defendants, including General Haig, alleging that the plaintiffs had been the subject of national security electronic surveillances conducted by the defendants.

The files also record the results of investigations into numerous threats on the life of General Haig, as well as investigations into several actual terroristic attacks on his person.

The files also indicate that General Haig, in his position as Assistant to the President, had telephonically requested that FBI Director Clarence Kelley institute a surveillance on the Watergate Special Prosecutor's Office (the office of Archibald Cox) giving the instructions that "nothing leaves." He also requested this same surveillance be instituted on the offices of Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus. The files indicate that General Haig telephonically instructed Director Kelley to discontinue these surveillances approximately fifteen hours after the first telephone calls. (These actions took place October 20 and 21, 1973.)

HE MADE OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION TO THIS COMPANY AND PERFORMED ALL HIS DUTIES IN VERY LOGICAL, METICULOUS, AND BUSINESS-LIKE MANNER WHICH WOULD HAVE BEEN ATTRIBUTABLE TO SOMEONE WHO WAS WELL VERSED IN BUSINESS WORLD MATTERS. HE ADDED THAT APPOINTEE WAS ALWAYS EXTREMELY DIPLOMATIC IN ALL DEALINGS WITH MEMBERS OF EXECUTIVE STAFF AND IS HELD IN HIGH REGARD BY ALL OF THEM. HE USES EXCELLENT JUDGEMENT AND ARRIVES AT CORE OF ANY PROBLEM QUICKLY AND IS ABLE TO DISSOLVE EXTRANEOUS MATTER AROUND IT.

IN SHORT PERIOD IN WHICH APPOINTEE HAS BEEN WITH UTC, HE HAS INTEGRATED HIMSELF EXTREMELY WELL INTO THE CORPORATION AND HAS GAINED THE RESPECT OF TOP EXECUTIVES IN UTC.

[] STATED APPOINTEE IS PERSON OF SUPERIOR INTEGRITY, ABILITY AND DIPLOMACY AND IS CAPABLE OF TAKING STRONG POSITIONS AND ACTIONS WHEN NECESSARY. HE SAID APPOINTEE WORKED LONG, HARD HOURS AND DEFINITELY WAS NO "FIGUREHEAD" IN THIS FIRM. HAIG EXPRESSED HIMSELF VERY CLEARLY AND ALWAYS DEALT "ACROSS THE BOARD" WITH PERSONS BOTH INSIDE AND OUTSIDE UTC. HE IS HONEST, "SAYS IT LIKE IT IS", AND IS NEVER EVASIVE. HE BASES HIS JUDGMENTS ON CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF ALL ASPECTS OF A GIVEN SITUATION AND HAS THE COURAGE TO FOLLOW HIS COMMITMENTS. HE HAS BEEN VERY EFFECTIVE IN UTC AND [] REGARDS HIM AS AN "ABSOLUTELY FIRST-RATE" EXECUTIVE, ORGANIZER AND LEADER.

[] STATED THAT NOTHING HAS EVER COME TO HIS ATTENTION RE APPOINTEE EITHER PERSONALLY OR PROFESSIONALLY, WHICH IF IT BECAME PUBLIC KNOWLEDGE WOULD PROVE EMBARRASSING TO APPOINTEE, HIS FAMILY, UTC, OR THE POSITION FOR WHICH HE IS BEING CONSIDERED. HIS INTEGRITY, MORAL CHARACTER, REPUTATION, LOYALTY AND STABILITY ARE BEYOND QUESTION. HE WHOLEHEARTEDLY RECOMMENDED APPOINTEE FOR POSITION FOR WHICH HE IS BEING CONSIDERED.

ON JAN. 6, 1981, [] MTI'S ELEVATOR CORP., AS WELL AS GROUP VICE PRESIDENT OF UTC, STATED HE HAS KNOWN APPOINTEE SINCE DEC. 1979, WHEN HE JOINED UTC. [] SAID HAIG DISPLAYED OUTSTANDING ADMINISTRATIVE QUALITIES AND WAS CAPABLE OF QUICKLY GRASPING DIFFICULT INTRICACIES OF THIS VERY COMPLEX INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION. HE ALSO DISPLAYED A SENSITIVITY AND TREMENDOUS INSIGHT INTO EUROPEAN RHETORIC AND THE VARIOUS SUBTLETIES OF DIFFERENCES IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AND THEIR RESPECTIVE POLITICS. [] SAID [] AND THEREFORE HE MAINTAINS CONTACTS WITH EXECUTIVES IN EUROPEAN CORPORATIONS. HE SAID HE HAS HAD A GREAT DEAL OF "FEEDBACK" FROM

[] SAID HAIG IS THE EPITOME OF DIPLOMACY AND HANDLES PEOPLE EXTREMELY WELL. HE POSSESSES CHARISMA AND IS CAPABLE OF SIZING UP SITUATIONS QUICKLY AND DISPENSES WITH ALL CAMOUFLAGE AROUND A PARTICULAR SITUATION AND GETS TO THE CORE OF ALL PROBLEMS. HE USES EXTREMELY GOOD JUDGMENT IN ARRIVING AT CONCLUSIONS AND IS HELD IN VERY HIGH ESTEEM BY ALL CORPORATE MEMBERS OF UTC, AS WELL AS OUTSIDERS. [] SAID APPOINTEE'S DIPLOMATIC LEADERSHIP AND ADMINISTRATIVE ABILITIES ALL BLEND TO MAKE HIM AN OUTSTANDING CANDIDATE FOR POSITION FOR WHICH HE IS BEING CONSIDERED.

ON JAN. 6, 1981, []

CHOICE OF HAIG AS PRESIDENT OF UTC WAS QUICKLY APPROVED AFTER HAIG JOINED FIRM AND DISPLAYED OUTSTANDING ADMINISTRATIVE ABILITIES. APPOINTEE MADE EXTREMELY DIFFICULT TRANSITION FROM HIS MILITARY BACKGROUND TO THAT OF COMMERCIAL EMPLOYMENT BUT HE WAS EXTREMELY ABLE TO GRASP THE DETAILED KNOWLEDGE OF A COMPLEX CORPORATION THROUGH VERY HARD WORK, AND IMMEDIATELY GAINED RESPECT OF ALL WITH WHOM HE CAME IN CONTACT. HE POSSESSES ABILITY TO MAKE DECISIONS WITHOUT CREATING ANXIETIES AMONG HIS FELLOW CORPORATE EXECUTIVES AND PRESENTS HIS VIEWS IN A MOST DIPLOMATIC MANNER RATHER THAN IN AN OVERBEARING OR OBNOXIOUS WAY. HIS INTEGRITY, MORAL CHARACTER, REPUTATION, LOYALTY AND STABILITY ARE BEYOND QUESTION. [] SAID HAIG'S ACCEPTANCE OF POSITION OF SECRETARY OF STATE WILL BE TREMENDOUS LOSS FOR UTC. HE RECOMMENDED HAIG WITHOUT RESERVATION AND SAID HIS HONESTY, HIS FORTHRIGHT APPROACH, DIPLOMATIC PRESENTATION, AND COURAGE TO BACK UP HIS CONVICTIONS WILL BLEND TO MAKE HIM UN OUTSTANDING, ABOVE AVERAGE SECRETARY OF STATE.

ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG, JR.; SPIN; BUDED: JANUARY 2, 1981

MAJOR GENERAL ROBERT L. SCHWEITZER, OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY CHIEF FOR MILITARY OPERATIONS, U. S. ARMY, PENTAGON, ADVISED HE HAS KNOWN, WORKED WITH, AND ASSOCIATED WITH APPOINTEE SINCE 1966. GENERAL SCHWEITZER HAS SERVED AS THE APPOINTEE'S PRIMARY ASSISTANT "FOR YEARS RUNNING," AND FROM DECEMBER, 1974, UNTIL APPOINTEE'S RETIREMENT IN 1979, GENERAL SCHWEITZER SERVED AS A SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO APPOINTEE IN SHAPE HEADQUARTERS, BELGIUM.

AFTER SPENDING THOUSANDS OF HOURS IN PROBLEM SESSIONS WITH APPOINTEE, DURING OFFICIAL MEETINGS AS WELL AS PERSONAL MEETINGS BETWEEN GENERAL SCHWEITZER AND APPOINTEE, GENERAL SCHWEITZER HAS FORMED THE OPINION HE HAS NEVER MET A MORE SCRUPULOUS, HONEST, LESS SELFISH, SINCERE PERSON IN HIS LIFE. HE BELIEVES THE APPOINTEE TO HAVE ABSOLUTELY THE GREATEST PERSONAL AND MORAL

INTEGRITY. APPOINTEE IS A PERSON OF GREAT FEELING FOR OTHER PEOPLE. HE HAS EMOTIONAL STABILITY WHICH DURING LONG PERIODS OF STRESS HE IS ABLE TO MAINTAIN A BALANCE WITH HIS ASSOCIATES. HE IS EXTREMELY FAIR AND JUST IN DEALING WITH PEOPLE AROUND HIM, BUT IS LIKEWISE EXTREMELY STRONG IN DEALING WITH ANY OF HIS COUNTRY'S ADVERSARIES OR POTENTIAL ADVERSARIES. HE ALWAYS MAINTAINS BALANCE AND REASON, AND HE HAS NEVER PROPOSED ANYTHING BE "SLICKIED" IN ORDER TO SOLVE OR AVOID PROBLEMS.

GENERAL SCHWEITZER STATED HE COULD CONTINUE WHAT HE FEELS TO BE APPOINTEE'S QUALIFICATIONS, BUT STATED IT WOULD BE SUFFICIENT TO SAY APPOINTEE POSSESSES THE GREATEST CHARACTER AND REPUTATION OF ANY PERSON GENERAL SCHWEITZER HAS EVER MET. HE KNOWS OF NO ONE WHO HAS MORE FIDELITY TO THE TRUST OF THE UNITED STATES.

HE CONTINUED APPOINTEE HAS NO OBJECTIONAL PERSONAL HABITS, NOR, IN GENERAL SCHWEITZER'S OBSERVATION, EVER BEEN UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF ALCOHOL TO THE POINT SUCH CONSUMPTION HAS AFFECTED OR INFLUENCED ACTION OR JUDGEMENT. GENERAL SCHWEITZER DOES NOT BELIEVE APPOINTEE HAS ANY INTERIOR WEAKNESSES.

HE BELIEVES APPOINTEE IS A "GOOD HUMAN BEING" AND IS A PERSON HE WOULD STRONGLY RECOMMEND FOR A POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE

WITH THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

BRIGADIER GENERAL NILES J. FULWYLER, DIRECTOR, NUCLEAR CHEMICAL OPERATIONS, OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF, U. S. ARMY, PENTAGON, ADVISED HE HAS KNOWN AND BEEN PROFESSIONALLY AS WELL AS SOCIALLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE APPOINTEE SINCE 1973. DURING 1977, GENERAL FULWYLER WAS ASSIGNED TO THE SHAPE HEADQUARTERS STAFF, AS CHIEF OF THE NUCLEAR ACTIVE BRANCH, A POST HE HELD FOR OVER TWO YEARS. DURING THIS TIME, HE MET DAILY WITH APPOINTEE AND MAINTAINED OFFICIAL SOCIAL AS WELL AS PERSONAL SOCIAL CONTACTS WITH APPOINTEE AND FAMILY.

GENERAL FULWYLER DESCRIBED APPOINTEE AS THE "EPITOME OF THE FINEST PROFESSIONAL, MILITARY, OR CIVIL SERVANT THE GOVERNMENT EVER HAD." HE CONTINUED THAT APPOINTEE IS A BRILLIANT OFFICER, A GREAT PATRIOT, A PERSON IN WHOM GENERAL FULWYLER HAS THE UTMOST FAITH AND CONFIDENCE IN APPOINTEE'S ABILITY AND COMPETENCE. GENERAL FULWYLER IS NOT AWARE OF ANY INCIDENT OR TRAIT WHICH WOULD CAUSE GENERAL FULWYLER TO QUESTION APPOINTEE'S LOYALTY TO THE UNITED STATES, NOR HAS APPOINTEE EVER GIVEN ANY POSSIBLE INDICATION OF INVOLVEMENT WITH ANY FOREIGN COUNTRY WHO ARE POTENTIAL ADVERSARIES OF THE U. S.

HE IS AWARE APPOINTEE IS A SOCIAL DRINKER (ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE), BUT HAS NEVER SEEN APPOINTEE DRINK TO EXCESS, OR ANYTHING WHICH COULD

BE CONSTRUED AS EXCESSIVE.

DURING APPOINTEE'S ASSIGNMENT AT SHAPE, GENERAL FULWYLER OBSERVED THERE WAS NEVER ANY DEMEANING OR DEROGATORY COMMENT EVER MADE BY ANY FOREIGN NATIONAL OFFICER CONCERNING APPOINTEE. QUITE THE CONTRARY, THE FOREIGN NATIONAL OFFICERS HELD APPOINTEE IN HIGH ESTEEM, BOTH AS A PERSON AND A SOLDIER.

GENERAL FULWYLER WOULD GIVE HIS STRONGEST RECOMMENDATION OF THE APPOINTEE FOR A POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE WITH THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

LT. GENERAL E. H. ALMQUIST, REACHED FROM HIS HOME AT 1800 HARE COURT, ALEXANDRIA, VA., AT TELEPHONE NUMBER 823-2115, ADVISED:

HE HAS BEEN PROFESSIONALLY AND SOCIALLY ASSOCIATED WITH APPOINTEE SINCE 1973, WHEN GENERAL ALMQUIST WAS ASSIGNED AS ASSISTANT CHIEF OF STAFF FOR FORCE DEVELOPMENT, U. S. ARMY. AT THIS TIME, APPOINTEE WAS GENERAL ALMQUIST'S SUPERIOR OFFICER AND PROFESSIONALLY THERE WAS DAILY CONTACT BETWEEN THE TWO PEOPLE. DURING 1974 AND 1975, GENERAL ALMQUIST SERVED IN HEIDELBERG, GERMANY, WHILE APPOINTEE SERVED IN THE SUPREME ALLIED COMMANDER--EUROPE AT THE SHAPE HEADQUARTERS, BELGIUM. DURING THIS TENURE, BOTH WERE IN CONTACT ON A CONTINUING BASIS BOTH PROFESSIONALLY AND

PAGE FIVE AX 161B-1476 UNCLAS

SOCIALLY, AND THE RELATIONSHIP CONTINUES ALBEIT LESS FREQUENTLY.

GENERAL ALMQUIST DESCRIBED APPOINTEE AS A PERSON OF HIGH CHARACTER AND INTEGRITY, OF HIGH MORAL AND ETHICAL STANDARDS, DECISIVE, FORTHRIGHT, A PERSON WHO ACTS ON FACTS, NOT FANCY, AND ONE WHO WANTS "THE BIG PICTURE" BEFORE MAKING HIS DECISIONS.

GENERAL ALMQUIST BELIEVES APPOINTEE IS CAPABLE, INTELLIGENT, EASY TO GET ALONG WITH, AND IS ABLE TO "GIVE AND TAKE" WHERE IT COUNTS. HE DOES NOT BELIEVE THERE IS ANY DEROGATORY INFORMATION ASSOCIATED WITH APPOINTEE OR HIS FAMILY IN ANY DEGREE.

HE COMMENTED APPOINTEE HAS PROVEN HIMSELF BY SERVICE OF HONOR AND DISTINCTION, AND THEREFORE GENERAL ALMQUIST WOULD HIGHLY RECOMMEND APPOINTEE FOR A POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE WITH THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

CHARLES W. DYKE, MAJOR GENERAL, VICE DIRECTOR, JOINT CHIEF OF STAFF, PENTAGON, ADVISED HE FIRST MET APPOINTEE IN 1969, WORKED UNDER APPOINTEE'S DIRECTION ON THE VICE CHIEF OF STAFF AS EXECUTIVE OFFICER FROM DECEMBER, 1972, UNTIL MARCH, 1973, AND AT SHAPE HEADQUARTERS FROM JANUARY, 1977, UNTIL JULY, 1978. THEIR ASSOCIATION HAS BEEN MAINLY PROFESSIONAL, BUT ALSO A SOCIAL AND PERSONAL FRIENDSHIP AS WELL, AND CONTINUES TO THE PRESENT TIME

ON A WEEKLY BASIS.

GENERAL DYKE DESCRIBED APPOINTEE AS A PERSON OF EMINENT CHARACTER AND REPUTATION, A PERSON OF GREAT ABILITY, DEDICATED TO THE HIGHEST PRINCIPLES OF SERVICE TO THE UNITED STATES. GENERAL DYKE HAS NO QUESTION AS TO THE COMPLETE AND UTTER LOYALTY OF THE APPOINTEE TO THE UNITED STATES. HE CONTINUED HE FEELS APPOINTEE TO BE LOYAL AND SINCERE IN HIS RELATIONSHIPS WITH CO-WORKERS, TO BE A LEADER AMONG THEM AND A PERSON OF UNEXCELLED INTEGRITY.

GENERAL DYKE IS ALSO PERSONALLY ACQUAINTED WITH APPOINTEE'S FAMILY AND WOULD GIVE THEM AN EQUALLY HIGH RECOMMENDATION.

HE WOULD GIVE THE APPOINTEE THE HIGHEST RECOMMENDATION FOR A POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE WITH THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

LT. COLONEL [REDACTED], OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY CHIEF FOR MILITARY OPERATIONS, U. S. ARMY, PENTAGON, ADVISED HE WAS AN [REDACTED] SERVING UNDER APPOINTEE FROM MAY, 1976, TO MAY, 1977, AT SHAPE HEADQUARTERS, BELGIUM. COLONEL [REDACTED] SERVED AS [REDACTED] FOR APPOINTEE, AND HAD PROFESSIONAL ACCESS ON A CONTINUING BASIS.

b7c

HE DESCRIBED APPOINTEE AS A PERSON OF EXTRAORDINARY PROFESSIONAL AND OFFICIAL ABILITY, DEDICATED, HARDWORKING, AND

INTELLIGENT. HE DESCRIBED APPOINTEE AS A PERSON OF MODERATE HABITS WHO WAS ABLE TO COPE WITHOUT STRESS IN SITUATIONS WHERE HE WAS REQUIRED TO ASSOCIATE WITH THE SOLDIERS IN THE FIELDS DURING THE DAY WHILE DINING WITH THE "QUEEN MOTHER" IN THE SAME EVENING. APPOINTEE HAS THE ABILITY TO "RELATE WITH PEOPLE."

COLONEL [] BELIEVES APPOINTEE TO BE OF EXCELLENT CHARACTER AND REPUTATION, A PERSON WHOSE LOYALTY IS ABOVE QUESTION, AND A PERSON FOR WHOM COLONEL LANDRY IS ABLE TO RECOMMEND FOR A POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE WITHOUT ANY RESERVATIONS WHATSOEVER.

[] U. S. ARMY, PERSONNEL OFFICER FOR THE OFFICE OF CHIEF OF STAFF, PENTAGON, ADVISED HE FIRST BECAME ACQUAINTED WITH APPOINTEE IN DECEMBER, 1974, WHEN MR. [] WAS ASSIGNED TO SHAPE HEADQUARTERS AS THE [] DURING THIS PERIOD, MR. [] MAINTAINED DAILY PROFESSIONAL CONTACT UNTIL JUNE, 1977. SINCE THIS DATE, MR. [] HAS HAD LIMITED CONTACT OF ANY NATURE WITH APPOINTEE. THERE ARE OCCASIONAL SOCIAL MEETINGS, HOWEVER.

TO SUM UP CHARACTER AND REPUTATION, MR. [] STATED " (APPOINTEE) IS THE MOST OUTSTANDING GENTLEMAN...EVER WORKED FOR... NEVER MET ANYONE MORE LOYAL." HE IS NOT AWARE OF ANYTHING WHICH

PAGE EIGHT AX 161B-1476 UNCLAS

WOULD SOIL THE GOOD NAME OR REPUTATION OF APPOINTEE. THE APPOINTEE WAS HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM BY THE FOREIGN NATIONAL OFFICERS WHO FREQUENTED THE SHAPE HEADQUARTERS, AND IN VIEW OF MR. [REDACTED] POSITION AT SHAPE, MR. [REDACTED] WOULD HAVE BEEN THE FIRST PERSON TO LEARN OF ANY DEROGATORY COMMENTS. HE HAS NEVER HEARD ANY SUCH COMMENTS ABOUT THE APPOINTEE.

MR. [REDACTED] WOULD DEFINITELY RECOMMEND THE APPOINTEE FOR ANY POSITION OF TRUST AND CONFIDENCE WITH THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

[REDACTED] ADVISED

JANUARY 5, 1981:

SHE AND HER HUSBAND, LT. GENERAL E. H. ALMQUIST, U. S. ARMY RETIRED, HAVE BEEN SOCIAL ACQUAINTANCES OF THE APPOINTEE AND FAMILY FOR THE PAST ELEVEN YEARS. THE FAMILIES BECAME ACQUAINTED AS A RESULT OF PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION BETWEEN THEIR HUSBANDS. SHE DESCRIBED APPOINTEE PERSONALLY AS AN HONEST, FORTHRIGHT PERSON, A MAGNIFICANT PERSON, AND A GREAT SOLDIER. SHE BELIEVES APPOINTEE TO BE A MAN OF CHARACTER, IS DEFINITELY A REPUTABLE PERSON, AND A PERSON WHO WOULD PUT "HIS COUNTRY ABOVE ALL ELSE."

MRS. ALMQUIST DESCRIBED THE FAMILY OF APPOINTEE AS "FINE, WONDERFUL PEOPLE" OF WHOM SHE IS ABLE TO MAKE THE SAME COMMENTS

This is in response to the telephone inquiry of Special Agent [redacted] to Deputy Counsel [redacted] regarding dissemination restrictions on the above captioned inquiry. The results of that inquiry should be disseminated in the same manner as the Bureau would disseminate the results of any other sensitive closed matter. In view of the fact that the general nature of this allegation appeared in a Jack Anderson column on December 11, 1981, entitled "The FBI's scandal-mongering leaves 'innocents' smeared," it would be in the best interest of both Mr. Haig and the White House that it be made clear in any future Bureau inquiry that the allegation was fully investigated and was determined to be without merit.

Dear Mr. Fielding:

In accordance with a request received from you on February 22, 1985, an expanded name check has been conducted concerning General Alexander Meigs Haig, Jr. Enclosed is a summary memorandum containing the results of this expanded name check.

Several applicant-type investigations have been conducted concerning General Haig, the most recent having been in January, 1981. A file review was also conducted concerning General Haig in January, 1981, at the request of Honorable Michael H. Cardozo, Deputy Counsel to the President. The results of those investigations have been previously provided to you.

A request for a check of the records of the United States Attorney's Office, Washington, D. C., has been outstanding since the outset of this inquiry but, to date, the results have not been received. We consider our inquiry to be complete at this time, and the results of the above-mentioned records check will be forwarded to you when that information is made available.

Synopsis:

To date, seven cases have been reviewed in which the appointee was named as a defendant. One case, [REDACTED] ET AL, v. RONALD REAGAN, ET AL, failed to make clear whether the appointee was being sued in his individual or official capacity. In all other cases, the appointee was sued in his official capacity as an employee of the United States Government. In none of these cases did the cause of action raise any issues regarding the appointee's suitability to hold a position of trust and confidence with the United States Government. In the remaining action reviewed to date, [REDACTED] the appointee was one of thirty-three individuals who were named in or assisted in preparing documents during President NIXON's second term office. These individuals successfully challenged GSA regulations under which the documents were to be released. No issues were raised regarding the appointee's suitability to hold a position of trust and confidence with the United States Government.

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D.C.

The following investigation was conducted based upon information obtained from the United States District Court in the District of Columbia indicating that ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG was a party to a number of civil actions:

On June 12, 1985, SSA [] interviewed [] at the Pentagon concerning a civil action entitled [] v. Howard H. Calloway and Alexander Haig. MR. [] advised that he is [] for ALEXANDER HAIG and MR. [] is currently on duty at the Pentagon as a reserve officer. He advised that the civil action was filed in 1973 and was closed in 1974. It was an action filed by [] to enjoin the Secretary of the Army at the time, HOWARD H. CALLOWAY, [] MR. HAIG. MR. [] stated that GENERAL HAIG was a general at the time that he was sent over to the White House to assist President NIXON. After GENERAL HAIG finished his duties at the White House he retired as a general and then later was recalled by President FORD to become Supreme NATO Commander in Europe. MR. [] advised that the injunction was never granted and the law suit was dismissed by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The civil action for this case was 73-1108.

SSA [] contacted Departmental Attorney [] concerning civil action entitled [] v. Haig. This case was originally filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia and had civil action number 75-271. MS. [] advised that she had just returned from Chicago where she had argued this case before the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. She advised that there has never been any trial held in this case and to date the lawsuit has been dismissed on three separate occasions. Once it was dismissed for improper venue and on two separate occasions it has been dismissed for failure to state a claim for which relief can be granted. ALEXANDER HAIG is a defendant in the case because he was Vice-Chief of Staff of the United States Army at the time that certain militant Indians took over the Wounded Knee Indian Reservation. As a result of this takeover the United States Army responded to attempt to resolve the situation. A decision was made to barricade all roads leading into and out of the reservation in order to attempt to have those Indians who had taken over the trading post surrender. There were other Indians on the reservation who were unable to leave the reservation and those Indians filed this civil action in 1975 claiming that MR. HAIG and others had violated their Constitutional rights in that he and members of the United States Army would not permit Indians to leave the reservation during the period of time that the barricades were in place. MS. [] advised that the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals can either affirm the District Court's dismissal of the civil action for failure to state a claim or the court can remand the case to the District Court to permit the plaintiffs to file an amended complaint. She advised that none of the causes of action in the case raise any issues regarding MR. HAIG'S integrity nor would any of these causes of action suggest that MR. HAIG was not suitable to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

SSA [] contacted Superior Court Judge RICHARD LEVY, Superior Court, District of Columbia, to discuss with him a case entitled [] civil action number 83-3099. Judge LEVY advised that he had represented the United States Government in this civil action. This is a civil action filed by ALEXANDER HAIG and thirty-two other individuals who were either named in NIXON White House documents or who were individuals who prepared documents during former President NIXON'S second term in office. The suit was filed to challenge regulations of the General Services Administration under which certain written White House documents, during the second term of former President NIXON could be made public. The purpose of the suit was to block public access to these documents. The plaintiffs challenged the statute which would have made the documents public because that statute contained a legislative veto provision and because that legislative veto had been exercised on three occasions. Judge LEVY advised that the plaintiffs successfully blocked the release of these documents. Judge LEVY advised that he never personally saw any of these papers and therefore was not in a position to comment on whether any of the documents would contain information which might bear on the question of MR. HAIG'S suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

SSA [] interviewed [], Civil Appellate Section, Civil Division, Department of Justice, on June 12, 1985. MR. [] advised that he defended a civil action entitled [] et al., v. Ronald Reagan, et al. This case has civil action number 82-3395 in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. It has appeal number 83-1997 in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. This case was dismissed by the United States District Court and was briefed and argued in the Court of Appeals in May of 1984. The nine named federal defendants are President RONALD REAGAN, CIA Director WILLIAM CASEY, Former Secretary of State ALEXANDER HAIG, Secretary of State GEORGE SHULTZ, the Secretary of Defense and a number of other federal officials. The District Court dismissed the action without prejudice against ALEXANDER HAIG for failure of the plaintiffs to effect service of process. The amended complaint continued to list MR. HAIG as a defendant, without stating whether he was sued in his individual or official capacity. The amended complaint lists twenty-six plaintiffs. Six plaintiffs are Nicaraguan Nationals or members of their families who were allegedly harmed in attacks by "terrorists" acts conducted against two Nicaraguan villages in December, 1982.

Another [redacted]

plaintiff [redacted]

In addition to the Nicaraguan plaintiffs two plaintiffs are Florida residents suing "in the name of the State of Florida" and there are twelve members of the United States House of Representatives who are also plaintiffs. The Congressman allege that they have been "deprived of their right to participate in the decision to declare war" under the Constitution and that the defendants have unlawfully used funds for the purpose of overthrowing the Government of Nicaragua, in violation of the Boland Amendment.

The plaintiffs sought an injunction directing that the United States "cease immediately funding, supplying, training, and/or participating directly or indirectly in any and all acts of terror or violence directed against the people and property of Nicaragua and/or aimed at overthrowing the Government of Nicaragua." The Nicaraguan plaintiffs are seeking two million dollars each in damages for the alleged injuries.

MR. [redacted] advised that there has never been a trial in this case and to his knowledge there have been no facts developed in the case which would indicate that ALEXANDER HAIG is not suitable to hold a position of trust and confidence in the United States Government.

On June 13, 1985, SSA [redacted], contacted Departmental Attorney [redacted] Torts Branch, Department of Justice, and MR. [redacted] furnished the following information:

He advised that ALEXANDER HAIG was a defendant in the following civil actions: [redacted] v. Kissinger, [redacted] v. Haig, and [redacted] v. Nixon.

MR. [redacted] advised that in all of these civil actions the plaintiffs alleged that HAIG was working for HENRY KISSINGER who was at that time the National Security Advisor and it was alleged that HAIG was KISSINGER's deputy. The plaintiffs alleged that HAIG and others violated the Constitutional rights of individuals working on the National Security Council Staff and the Constitutional rights of [REDACTED]

b7C

[REDACTED] It was alleged that KISSINGER and HAIG and others had instructed the FBI to conduct wiretaps in order to determine the source of leaks from the National Security Council dealing with government policy toward Okinawa and government policy concerning the direction of the war in Vietnam. All of these cases were dismissed based upon the qualified immunity of MR. HAIG and the other defendants. All of the cases are currently before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. There have never been any trials held in these cases and the question which the plaintiffs are still attempting to litigate is the question of whether the defendants should have qualified immunity.

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent (SA) [redacted] at the National Archives on 6/17/85, concerning the civil action [redacted] v. ERLICHMAN, ET AL case number 74-888 in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. This case was filed 6/12/74, and dismissed. The plaintiffs, husband and wife, alleged that the defendants, including ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG, as present or former members of the executive branch of the federal government, violated the plaintiffs' first and fourth amendment rights to privacy and first amendment right to freedom of speech. The violations were alleged to have been accomplished through electronic wiretaps placed on plaintiff's telephones without prior judicial authorization. The plaintiff's alleged that, although the wiretaps were purportedly necessary "to stop disclosures of classified information known to the staff of the National Security Council", they were actually done without evidence that either plaintiff had or was likely to disclose classified information without lawful authority. The case was dismissed on the same date it was filed pursuant to Rule 41(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (voluntarily dismissed without prejudice by motion of the plaintiffs).

The following investigation was conducted based upon information obtained from the United States District Court for the District of Columbia indicating that ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG was a party to a number of civil actions:

On June 20, 1985, Special Agent (SA) [] interviewed [] Assistant Legal Advisor for Politico-Military Affairs, UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE (USDOS) concerning a civil action entitled [] vs. REAGAN (civil action number 81-1034) and ALEXANDER HAIG. [] advised that the plaintiffs, United States Congressmen, alleged that President REAGAN's decision to continue military assistance to the military of El Salvador violated the War Powers Resolution and the United States Constitution, and that provision of security assistance to El Salvador in the face of alleged human rights violations by that nation violated Section 502(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act. No issues were raised regarding ALEXANDER HAIG's integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the U.S. Government. The suit was dismissed on the grounds that it raised a non-justiciable political question, with the District Court also citing the Equitable Discretion doctrine as grounds for dismissal.

b7c

On July 3, 1985, SA [] interviewed [], Assistant Legal Advisor for Management, USDOS, concerning several civil actions in which ALEXANDER HAIG was named as a defendant, and in which attorneys in [] office acted as defense counsel.

[] vs. HAIG (civil action number 82-1436) was an action brought by an employee of the Agent for International Development (AID) against the USDOS. ALEXANDER HAIG was named as a nominal defendant only in his capacity as United States Secretary of State, and no issues were raised concerning HAIG's integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

[] vs. HAIG (civil action number 81-2380) and AVIATION ENTERPRISE vs. HAIG (civil action number 82-1643) both questioned procurement practices of USDOS entities. [] plaintiffs questioned whether the American Embassy in Argentina properly terminated a procurement contract, and AVIATION ENTERPRISE challenged an action relating to procurement by the International Narcotics program of the USDOS. In both of these cases, ALEXANDER HAIG was named only as a ~~nominal~~ defendant in his capacity as United States Secretary of State. No issues were raised concerning HAIG's integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

[] vs. HAIG (civil action number 81-1689), and [] vs. HAIG (civil action number 81-767) were cases brought by present or former employees of the USDOS, challenging USDOS actions under the Equal Employment Opportunity Act. In all these cases, ALEXANDER HAIG was named as a nominal defendant only, in his capacity as United States Secretary of State. No issues were raised concerning HAIG's integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

[] vs. HAIG (civil action number 81-918) and AMERICAN FOREIGN SERVICE ASSOCIATION vs. HAIG (civil action number 81-1418) were suits brought by Senior Foreign Service Officers of the USDOS. In [] a class action, the plaintiffs sought retirement with full annuity prior to the normal retirement age. AMERICAN FOREIGN SERVICE ASSOCIATION challenged the setting of salaries for senior foreign service officers. ALEXANDER HAIG was named as a nominal defendant only, in his capacity as United States Secretary of State. No issues were raised concerning his integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

[] vs. UNITED STATES (civil action number 81-794) was an action brought by [] USDOS employee, appealing a decision of the Foreign Service Grievance Board. ALEXANDER HAIG was named as a nominal defendant only, in his capacity as United States Secretary of States. No issues were raised concerning HAIG's integrity or suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.

The following information was obtained by Special Agent (SA) [redacted] through a review of the records maintained in the Office of the Clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia on September 17, 1985, regarding the civil action PALESTINE CONGRESS OF NORTH AMERICA, et al, v. ALEXANDER HAIG, et al, case number 82-1623 in that court.

The plaintiffs in this action were a federation of Palestinian-American Organizations along with two individuals born in Palestine and residing in the United States. ALEXANDER HAIG was sued in his official capacity as Secretary of State. The Complaint, filed on 6/11/82, alleged that HAIG had failed to fulfill his statutory obligations under the Arms Control Export Act. Specifically, it was asserted that the Israeli military attack against Lebanon, carried out with U.S.-supplied weapons, was a violation of the Act, which prohibits the use of U.S.-supplied weapons by recipient nations for purposes of aggression against other nations. The Complaint stated that HAIG had failed to perform his statutory obligation to notify Congress of the possible violation of the Act, thereby preventing the implementation of the enforcement provisions of the Act. The plaintiffs sought to compel HAIG to comply with the Act's notification requirement.

No issues were raised regarding HAIG's integrity or his suitability to hold a position of trust in the U.S. Government. The suit was dismissed by Court order on 7/16/82, pursuant to the defendants' motion to dismiss. The Court cited the plaintiffs' lack of standing, that the action presented a non-justiciable political question, and the plaintiffs' failure to state a claim for which relief might be granted in its Order. On 7/19/82, the Court ordered, sua sponte, that the Order of 7/16/82 be vacated and that the action be dismissed as moot.

HAIG was named in his official capacity as Secretary of State. No allegations were raised concerning his integrity or his fitness for holding a position of trust and confidence in United States Government.

The plaintiff requested that the DOS supply a document (a telegram from the United States Embassy in London to the DOS) for his use in an article he was researching. As the DOS had failed to produce the document within the statutory period, the plaintiff's request was deemed to be denied, and the plaintiff had exhausted his statutory remedies.

Pursuant to a Verbal Order of the Court, the suit was dismissed and the plaintiff awarded $100 damages.

The following investigation was conducted on October 25, 1985, by Special Agent (SA) [REDACTED] at the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in Washington, D.C., regarding a civil case in which ALEXANDER MEIGS HAIG was named as a defendant.

PACIFIC INTERCULTURAL EXCHANGE V. [REDACTED] et al.,
(civil action number 81-3060), was an action brought by a Teenage Exchange Visitor Program, Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE). PIE's Exchange Visitor Designation was revoked by the International Communications Agency (ICA), which cited several instances in which PIE failed to comply with federal regulations as the basis for its action. PIE was effectively barred from enrolling any more students in its program or from bringing those already under contract into the United States.

All defendants were named in their official capacities. HAIG, Secretary of State, was named because consular officers of the United States were instructed to refuse to issue visas to students presenting certificates issued by PIE.

PIE alleged that ICA violated Due Process requirements in the manner in which it handled the case.

The case was dismissed by stipulation of the parties when ICA agreed to admit those students already under contract, and to conduct hearings regarding PIE's alleged violations according to procedures of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. A trial was never held in the matter in the United States District Court.

No issues were raised concerning HAIG's integrity or his suitability to hold a position of trust in the United States Government.
